2010 Chemistry Convocation Speaker

Elaine Fuchs, Ph.D.

Rebecca C. Lancefield Professor in Mammalian Cell Biology and Development, The Rockefeller University

Elaine Fuchs is the Rebecca C. Lancefield Professor in Mammalian Cell Biology and Development at The Rockefeller University. She is also an Investigator at the Howard Hughes Medical Institute. Fuchs has published over 250 papers and is internationally known for her research in skin biology and associated human genetic disorders, which include skin cancers and life-threatening genetic syndromes such as blistering skin disorders. Fuchs' current research focuses on the molecular mechanisms that underlie how multipotent stem cells respond to external cues, change their program of gene expression, exit their niche and adopt specific fates to make the epidermis, sebaceous glands and hair follicles of the skin, and how this goes awry in squamous cell carcinomas and in aging.

Fuchs received her Ph.D. in Biochemistry from Princeton University, and after her postdoctoral research at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, she joined the faculty at the University of Chicago. She stayed there until 2002 when she relocated to The Rockefeller University. Fuchs' awards and honors include the Presidential Young Investigator Award, the Richard Lounsbery Award from the National Academy of Sciences, the FASEB Award for Scientific Excellence, the Beering Award and most recently, the National Medal of Science, the L'Oreal-UNESCO Award and the Charlotte Friend Memorial Lecture and Award from the American Association for Cancer Research. She is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the American Philosophical Society, and she holds honorary doctorates from Mt. Sinai/ New York University School of Medicine and from the University of Illinois. Fuchs is also a past President of the American Society of Cell Biology and in June 2010, she will become President of the International Society for Stem Cell Research.
